

Staff Attorney

About the Job

Position: Staff Attorney

Office: San Francisco, CA and New York, NY

Experience: 2-4 years

Compensation: $115,000 - $150,000

Job Description

We are looking for a staff attorney with experience in high-stakes litigation to join our ranks. A successful candidate will possess a strong academic record from an accredited law school, with a minimum GPA of 3.0 and active membership in the California or New York State Bar; 2-4 years' experience in complex commercial litigation in matters including, but not limited to, trademark/copyright, trade secrets, antitrust, and class actions; and exceptional communication and interpersonal skills. Success in this position requires a positive, energetic attitude, high attention to detail, and a dedicated work ethic.

In addition to the above credentials, we are looking for someone who has experience with and possesses the following qualities:

- Reviewing documents for responsiveness, relevance, privilege, and other issues
- Devising and running searches in Relativity to identify relevant documents
- Conducting legal research and assisting in finalizing and filing briefs and other court submissions
- Familiar with ESI and large-scale document reviews
- Proficiency with the Relativity document review platform, Westlaw, and Microsoft Office
- Can effectively communicate findings in clear oral and written summaries
- Assisting litigation team with additional projects on an as-needed basis
- Collaborating across various teams

Who We Are

BraunHagey & Borden LLP is a litigation and corporate boutique based in San Francisco and New York that represents leading emerging and high growth companies across a variety of fields with a focus on food, beverage, health and wellness, and at the intersection of consumer, sustainability and tech. Many of our clients are innovative businesses and investors in the better- for-you sectors of the food and CPG ecosystems. We draw on our deep experience to provide pragmatic, business-minded advice to clients at all stages in their life cycle—from early-stage emerging companies to fast-growing businesses building brand equity and commercial traction, to household brands with national and global scale. In addition to its commercial work, the firm invests in impact cases focused on long-term legal or policy reform and has secured significant results protecting human rights, the environment, civil liberties, privacy, and the elderly.

Interested applicants should provide (1) a customized cover letter explaining their interest in the firm, (2) a complete law school transcript, (3) a substantive writing sample, and (4) resume. Please send all materials to careers@braunhagey.com.

BraunHagey & Borden is committed to ensuring that our office is a diverse, anti-racist, and multicultural environment where differences are valued and respected. The Firm is an equal opportunity employer and actively recruits candidates with diverse economic, racial, religious, ethnic, and sexual orientation backgrounds.